Notes:

- Adding a home button in the navigation (so that people can easily navigate back to the homepage without having to click on the logo each time) → if you end up adding the home in the navigation the back to home button doesn't have to be there anymore probably!
- The exhibition page looks good!
- The new fonts look great
- The captions like "01 / UNTITLED" can either have a little heavier weight or get a little bigger
- If you have the time, maybe adding another work or two in the selected works page might be nice! → because right now the viewers aren't presented with any new information when clicking on the selected works page than what they've seen in the homepage
- In the body text for exhibitions section in the homepage, maybe there could be more type contrast/hierarchy between the exhibition information and the summary of the text
